MRS. A. W. HICKLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND ELECTRICIAN,

No. 86 Front street (upstairs), one door north of Kingsley's Brick Building.

MRS. HICKLIN WILL CURE ALL ACUTE NERVOUS and Chronic Diseases with Electricity and Water, without the use of medicine, and will apply the Electricity according to Prof. W. R. Wells' theory. Mrs. H. is experienced in the practice of medicine, but has done almost entirely away with its use, believing that ELECTRICITY IS THE ONLY SAFE REMEDIAL AGENT for the Cure of Diseases. Medical men generally suppose that there are many causes for the various diseases in existence, and that one disease may have various causes. [illegible] We contend that there is but one grand cause for all disease, and that is a loss of balance of the two sources of Electricity on the part of parts diseased.

We apply the current with sponges and never shock the patient; and would advise our friends that we have one of Prof. Wells' Double Current Electro Galvanic Batteries, and can purify the blood, remove mercury from, build up and give tone to the system. We can Cure the worst cases of Rheumatism, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and all other curable diseases that the human family is subject to. When the greatest part of society say they have no faith in women, tell them we do not require any faith, but just give it a trial. You need not ask your physician if it will do you any good, for he knows nothing about the rule and principle of one of Prof. Wells' batteries.

☞ We are prepared to Board and lodge those who come for treatment, and will spare no pains in supplying the best hygienic fare. We shall require terms of board invariably in advance. All communications in regard to treatment, should be addressed,

JOHN WILKES BOOTH, THE ASSASSIN.—The New York Herald furnishes the following account of the assassin:

John Wilkes Booth, who is directly accused of the assassination of President Lincoln, is one of the sons of the celebrated English actor, Junius Junius Booth, the contemporary and rival of Edmund Kean. The elder Booth came to this country as a star actor, and finally settled upon a farm near Baltimore, Maryland. His eccentric habits, strange extravagance and wasted life are familiar to most of our readers. By different wives the elder Booth had four sons, named, in the order of their ages, Junius Brutus, Edwin, John Wilkes and Joseph. The three eldest brothers adopted the stage as a profession. The youngest studied medicine, and was last heard of somewhere in Georgia. John Wilkes Booth was born in 1838, near Baltimore, in the same vicinity as the noted rebel, Harry Gilmor. He was named after John Wilkes, a famous English tragedian. At the early age of sixteen he went upon the stage, and in 1856 made a regular debut at Philadelphia. He inherits the well known Booth face and figure, and some of the dramatic talent of the family. After starring awhile in the provinces we find him, in 1860-'66, the leading actor in Montgomery, Alabama. There he was regarded as a trifle crazy. In 1860, he wounded himself in the foot with a pistol, and came North to recruit his health.

Soon after his arrival here, discovering that his brother Edwin was achieving a decided success, he determined upon a debut in New York, and made his appearance in this city at Wallack's old theatre—now the Broadway—which was then under the management of Miss Mary Provost. He opened in Richard the Third, playing very tamely till the fighting scene at the end of the drama, when he wielded his two-handed sword with such vim and vigor as to astonish the audience. The stage combat has never been better performed. One evening, roused to intense excitement, he attacked Mr. E. L. Tilton, the "Richmond" of the occasion, so violently as to knock him into the orchestra, nearly breaking his arm. After two or three of "Richard," young Booth played "Shylock," and failed. The Herald said of this performance that youth might be an excuse for his errors, but there was no excuse for presenting them to a metropolitan audience. The Duke Paral son, in Schiller's Robbers, was his third role, and after acting it he went to Boston, where he was better received.

When the present war began John Wilkes Booth avowed himself an ardent secessionist, and he always persisted in his disloyalty. So many actors shared his opinions, however, and expressed them almost as strongly, that his sentiments gave him no particular notoriety. His brothers Junius and Edwin were and are most decided Union men, and several quarrels have arisen between the brothers on account of these differences. They acted together, however, at the Winter Garden, on the 25th of November last, for the benefit of the Shakspeare Monument Fund, and attracted one of the largest and most intellectual audiences ever assembled in any theatre. The play was Julius Cæsar, with Edwin Booth as Brutus, Junius Booth as Cassius, and John Wilkes Booth as Mark Antony. As an actor, John Wilkes could not compare with either of his brothers, although his resemblance to them in form, feature, voice and manner was remarkable. This was his last public appearance in this city.

Some months ago John Wilkes Booth ceased acting on account of a bronchial affection, and since then he is said to have accumulated considerable money by oil speculations in Western Virginia. Of late he has passed a large portion of his time in Washington, with which city and its theatres he was perfectly familiar. About eight or ten days ago he was in New York drinking profusely. Rumor says that in his drunken moods he has often declared his intention to kill President Lincoln, and that he often exhibited a pistol bullet, which, he said, was to do the deed. The truth of these statements may be ascertained by the police upon inquiry of his associates here; but it is certain that he talked in a wild, reckless way about the war, and that his sympathies were entirely with the rebels. Of this, we believe, he made no concealment, and it is reported that his brother Edwin turned him out of the house a short time ago in consequence of his treasonable utterances. Still no one who knew him was prepared to believe him a cowardly assassin.

THE ASSASSIN PRIOR TO HIS CRIME.

Those who were with Booth during the day and evening of the assassination, do not describe him as laboring under any extraordinary mental excitement, though at times he betrayed some nervousness and absence of mind. With the exception of brief intervals, he can be traced all through the day and evening. He seems to have drank intoxicating liquors quite moderately during the day. At one bar-room he remarked that he should soon make an exit from the stage that would astonish the world. This was said after it was ascertained that he knew the President and General Grant were to visit Ford's theatre on that evening. There is but one hour of Friday afternoon in which no witness as to Booth's whereabouts has been found. Circumstances make it quite certain that during this hour he attempted to see Vice President Johnson, and also had an interview with the assassin of Secretary Seward, at which concert of action as to time was carefully provided for. That each of the assassins had one or more accomplices close at hand, at the time of consummating their hellish deeds is not doubtful; but we do not learn that Booth was seen in company with any suspected persons during the day.

At about 8 o'clock in the morning, three men called at the office of the National Hotel, and inquired for Booth. The clerk, a Mr. Merrick, on sending to his room, informed them that he was not in. An earnest consultation was held between the three men, who, after inquiring as to the probable time of his return, left. Knowing Booth's acquaintances generally to be persons of respectable appearance, the clerk was surprised at the visit of the three men referred to, who were shabbily dressed and had the general look of Southern refugees. Still he failed to read the cards left by them, and which were subsequently given to Booth. At about 11 o'clock, A. M., Booth was in the office again, looking exceedingly pale, but in no other way betraying anything remarkable. At about four o'clock, P. M., he inquired if any letter had been left for him, and when informed that there had not, seemed greatly disappointed, and with a nervous air called for a sheet of paper and an envelope. He was about to write, when the thought seemed to strike him that some one might overlook his shoulder and peruse his letter. Approaching the door of the office he requested admittance, and, entering, sat down to write. It should have been said before, that when he received the stationery from Mr. Merrick, the latter asked him jocularly if he had "made a thousand dollars to-day," with a startled look he replied sotto voce, "No, but I have worked hard enough to have made ten times that amount."

When Booth began to write he turned to the clerk and inquired, "Is this the year 1864 or 1865?" "You are surely joking, John," replied the clerk. "You certainly know what year it is." "Sincerely, I do not," he rejoined, and on being told resumed writing. Merrick then noticed something troubled and agitated in Booth's appearance which was entirely at variance with his usually quiet deportment. Sealing the letter he put it in his pocket and left the hotel, returning to it at half past six, and leaving the key of his room at the office as he went out.

THE SENTENCE OF COL. ARGUELLES.—Col. Arguelles, the Cuban slavetrader, seems to have been condemned to a much severer punishment than the accounts first at hand indicated. He is sentenced to serve 12 years in the chain-gang at Ceuta, to pay a fine of $50,000, to make restitution to various persons for large sums of money of which he had defrauded them, and, finally, to pay one third of the costs of the trial, and to suffer the loss of all his civil rights. The other persons, including a priest named Valdez, who were implicated with Arguelles in his crime, have been condemned to various punishments. Valdez is sentenced to serve eight years in the chain-gang, and to perpetual incapacity to exercise priestly functions.—Cor. Bulletin.

[illegible] OF THE STATE

[illegible]DAY MORNING, MAY [illegible]

Reconstruction

For upwards of four years there has[illegible] [illegible] great question before the country. The question has at last received [illegible] that the American Union is to be perpetual. [illegible] far the sword has been [illegible] after however [illegible] complex. The attention of the country is now to be directed to questions that involve all the new relations and consequences that grow out of the war. The effect of the war has been to destroy the rebel armies and all the symbols of the rebel power. The war has now accomplished its end. Hereafter, whatever differences arise are to be adjusted by peaceful means; the scene of the contest is to be changed from the field to the council chamber and the ordinary method of argument is to supersede the use of the sword. The great question which has been disputed and decided in the field is now to be subdivided into a multiplicity of minor controversies and for a long time to come the public mind will be [illegible] engaged by the rapidly changing phases of old matters of contention, and by the presentation of new issues as they successively arise.

Chief among the questions now in dispute, is that of the status of the recovered States, both in relation to the General Government and their own people. There has been much difference of opinion among loyal men as to whether the seceded States should be regarded as having gone out of the Union, and so lapsed from their position as to compel them to seek admission for a second time by the same means which Territories employ for that purpose. President Johnson chooses to regard them still as States whose "life breath has only been in suspension." Further, he says that the "work of restoring a State must pass into hands of the friends of the Union. If a State is to be nursed until it regains strength, it must be nursed by its friends, not smothered by its enemies." This is tantamount to saying that the traitor majority, now that the war is over and they have returned to their homes, can not be permitted to seize the government of a State out of the hands of the friends of the Union. Were the elective franchise and other privileges, freely accorded to those who have been engaged in the rebellion and who are yet thoroughly hostile to the General Government, all that has, so far, been done to restore the several States would come to nought, and the rebels would speedily recover the management of the State Governments. Under this rule the States would again at once assume an attitude of hostility to the Government, and all that has been gained at so fearful an expense would be irremediably lost.

No doubt ought to be entertained among the friends of the Union, of the right of the loyal people of a State, even though they be a minority, to hold and administer the State Government to the exclusion of all who remain rebellious or who do not willingly acquiesce in the policy that the loyal portion of the people see fit to adopt. During the war the greater portion of the able bodied men of the seceding States, left their homes and performed service in the rebel army. In some of those States, when recovered from rebel domination, loyal Governments were instituted. In the persons who remained faithful to their duties as citizens, the political power of those States was properly vested. Loyal men were not answerable for the consequences of the defection of those who strove to overthrow the Government both State and National, and the fact that the majority went into rebellion did not disfranchise the loyal minority. If this minority could lawfully control a State while the other and greater part were absent in the rebel armies there is now no reason why it should not continue to do so until those who have been in rebellion shall prove their fealty by such tests as the States may see fit to prescribe.

The duties devolving on the General Government in those cases will be to protect those persons in these States who have always been loyal and on occasions of necessity, should such arise, to aid them in maintaining the State Governments against the encroachments of those who are yet unreconciled to the salutary policy of emancipation and to other measures which may be properly insisted on. If it be objected that this course is an unwarranted interference on the part of the Government with the affairs of the State, it must be remembered that this is the only way by which the loyal State governments can be maintained, and unless this course be pursued the rebels will speedily become as powerful, as insolent, as proscriptive and as hostile as ever.

There are many in the North, who, for party purposes will soon favor the restoration to all offenders of the rights and franchises they have lost by their own wrong, though this is not yet openly advocated. The only safe course to follow is to keep the recovered States in the hands of the friends of the Union, and prohibit all others from exercising any of the rights of citizens until all motives and incentives to hostility on the part of the rebels are utterly eradicated, and until there is no longer throughout the South, any feeling inimical to the welfare of the United States.

RELEASED.—Wm. Kirby, a person charged with having committed the crime of murder somewhere near Lewiston, in the summer of 1862, was recently discharged from custody by Judge Smith of Idaho. A question of jurisdiction over the case arose between Idaho and Washington Territories, and the prisoner was discharged because it did not appear that the act was committed in the former so as to entitle the Court to have cognizance of it.

ORDERED TO EUGENE CITY.—By letter from Camp Baker we learn that the recruits for the First Oregon Cavalry who were rendezvoused at that place are ordered to Eugene City.

Reconstruction in North Carolina.

New York, May 19.—The Herald's Raleigh, N. C., correspondent says a large meeting held at Raleigh May 11th took action for the restoration of civil government and social order. Speeches were made by a number of prominent citizens. A series of resolutions were unanimously adopted, in which were expressed joy over the downfall of the rebellion and their return to the old Union under the protection of the old flag, satisfaction at the termination of slavery, which we admit [illegible] have always been a drawback on the people and the State, and the acquiescence of the people in the announcement of President Johnson that treason must be punished.

The loss by the recent floods in Pennsylvania is now estimated at $10,000,000. Each succeeding estimate increases the amount some two or three millions, so that unless a stop is put to the estimates there will eventually be nothing left in the flooded regions.

We have ten territories waiting to be made States. They are Wyoming, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Utah and Washington.

DATES TO MAY 20.

Governor Pierpont going to Richmond.

New York, May 18.—The Times's special correspondent says Governor Pierpont, of Virginia, [illegible] Alexandria on Wednesday, May [illegible] [illegible] by the State officers and [illegible] with the archives of the Government [illegible] and proceed to Richmond [illegible] Capital [illegible] [illegible] The family will remain here [illegible]

Certain Rebels to be Severely Treated.

New York, May 18.—The Times's special [illegible] [illegible] the rights of prisoners of war [illegible] It is understood that the President agreed with the delegation and will proceed to act upon their representations by directing testimony to be taken upon the subject.

The Coming Proclamation.

New York, May 18.—The Tribune's dispatch says: The President's forthcoming amnesty proclamation is already in type. [illegible] oath of allegiance to all who have served in the rebel armies up to a certain grade. When accepted this oath [illegible] constitute a full and large pardon. This also states that the full scope and limitations of Grant and Sherman's terms are to be adhered to, while those who should have been guilty of the horrible cruelties perpetrated upon our prisoners will be tried and if convicted punished. The publication of the document is momentarily expected.

It is further understood that President Johnson's forthcoming proclamation will be in reality a withdrawal of the unconditional amnesty which President Lincoln proffered, and the substitution of an [illegible] of amnesty on certain special conditions to repentant rebels below the rank of Brigadier General. The terms of pardon are made more [illegible] and the amnesty is more [illegible] in its scope. It is added that all rebels who have been in the civil service of the Jeff. Davis Government, either at home or abroad, are to be added to the classes excepted from the new amnesty.

The Herald's special dispatch says: The late rebel Governor Brown of Georgia reached Washington yesterday under guard and was placed in the old Capitol prison. It is reported that the Government designs to use him as a witness in the trial of Jeff. Davis for complicity in the assassination. It is understood that the new amnesty proclamation will extend to all below the rank of Lieutenant General in the rebel service.

The Cabinet have yet under consideration the question of reconstruction. It is understood that there is considerable diversity of opinion upon several important details in connection with this subject.

Secretary Stanton is understood to differ very decidedly from the President and some of his colleagues in regard to the proper course to be pursued in restoring the rebellious States to their status in the Union. He is supported by one at least and perhaps two of the Cabinet, while the others side with the President. The question of negro suffrage is the great stumbling block in the way of harmony. There is reason to believe that the President is disinclined to take the responsibility of extending the suffrage to colored citizens until he has had an opportunity of ascertaining the sentiment of Congress on the subject.

Old Gwin Again.

Saint Louis, May 19.—The New Orleans Delta of the 14th says that a gentleman recently from Havana saw ex-Senator Gwin there, and was shown indubitable evidence of the cession of Sonora to France by Maximilian. This gentleman was also shown Gwin's patent of nobility as Duke of the French province of Sonora, signed by Napoleon and bearing the seal of France.

Forrest actually Killed.

Cairo, May 18.—The Memphis Argus says: We have reliable information that the rebel General Forrest was killed at Barksville, Ala., May 11th, by four of his own men, to avenge the death of six of their comrades who were ordered to be shot by Forrest the day before for exulting over the news of Johnston's surrender, which Forrest did not believe.

Progress of the Great Trial—Seward Convalescent.

Washington, May 19.—The witnesses for the defense in the assassination trial to-day were dismissed until Monday, the 22d. About 20 have thus far been summoned. An effort will be made to-morrow to conclude the testimony for the prosecution.

Secretary Seward for the first time since the attempt at assassination went to the State Department to-day and gave audience to one of the Ministers of the French Legation.

Frederick Seward continues to improve.

More Proofs of Jeff. Davis' Guilt.

New York, May 18.—The Times says: Gen. Lamon, of Rutland, Vermont, has an ingeniously contrived torpedo, exactly resembling a large lump of coal, which was sent him from Richmond by his son, and was found in the private Cabinet of Jeff. Davis.

The Press says it has information from a trustworthy official source that a note or dispatch in cipher was found in Booth's pocket. A paper in cipher had previously been found in Jeff. Davis' house at Richmond. This paper was not supposed to be of importance until the one in Booth's pocket was compared with it. The note proves that Davis was in communication with two men in Canada for whom a reward has been offered.

Stephens and Other Prisoners with Jeff. Davis.

Baltimore, May 20.—A letter from a person on board the [illegible] to the American says: The party we have consists of Jeff. Davis, his wife, a small son and two daughters, together with Alexander H. Stephens, C. C. Clay, Col. J. H. Reagan, Col. [illegible] Wheeler the rebel raider, and fifteen or sixteen others, whose names have not been ascertained. The letter concludes by saying we leave for the Potomac in a few hours.

From Mobile and New Orleans.

New Orleans, May 15.—Generals Canby and Osterhaus arrived from Mobile yesterday. The paroled officers and men of Taylor's army are returning [illegible] Mobile. Thirteen steamers, including the rebel ram Nashville and a gunboat, had arrived at Mobile from the Tombigbee river, whither they were taken by the rebels on their evacuation of Mobile. These with others were captured. The [illegible] as the flag ship of the [illegible] are expected here to-night.

The Mississippi river has flooded the levee and the water now covers the immense area from [illegible] river to [illegible] Grand Gulf, averaging from [illegible] to [illegible] miles wide. The suffering and destruction of property are beyond description.

Confiscation Laws in Tennessee.

Cincinnati, May 18.—The Nashville dispatch says: There is a prospect of a conflict between the judicial and executive powers in Tennessee. [illegible] Brownlow, as special agent of the Treasury Department, acting under written orders from that Department, rented out some abandoned property belonging to disloyal persons who were in the Southern Confederacy. Judge Trigg, at the ensuing term of the court, ordered a tenant of the Treasury Department to be dispossessed of a farm which he had rented from Brownlow, and the property to be restored to the owner. Gen. [illegible], on Brownlow's application, enforced the contract, and Judge Trigg's order was disregarded. On Tuesday Judge Trigg at Knoxville delivered a charge to the grand jury in which he directed them to indict [illegible] the premises. Judge Trigg is understood to be hostile to the confiscation laws.

A dispatch from Rome, Ga., says Jeff. Davis arrived at Macon on Monday the [illegible] and was sent to Augusta with a strong guard, from there to be taken to Fortress Monroe via Savannah.

Mexican News.

New York, May 20.—The New Orleans [illegible] Star of the 13th contains some Mexican news.

When Hicks went out to attack the Liberals the greater part of his cavalry deserted when ordered to charge. He fired upon them with his infantry and commenced retreating, but was ambushed, himself killed. The remainder of his troops surrendered immediately.

The Liberals had marched to within eight miles of Piedras Negras. Maximilian's native troops cannot be trusted.

A letter from Rio Grande City says: A new revolution is breaking out on the frontier. Six hundred natives and Germans have joined their forces with [illegible] at Camargo and are expected to attack Matamoras.

California News.

San Francisco, May 21.—There has been another miscarriage in the project for the aid of the Liberal cause in Mexico. The order prohibiting the shipment of arms to foreign ports having been rescinded by the War Department, measures had been taken to clear the muskets belonging to the Mexican Government, seized at Half Moon bay and in this city last year. Some 300 emigrants had also made preparations to go south in a vessel. The bark [illegible] had been chartered [illegible] a load of arms and passengers, but was delayed in starting since Saturday night a week. On Friday night at midnight orders were received for passengers to be on board at three o'clock, and several hundred went to the vessel in the stream with their luggage. Another delay occurred and the departure was put off until last night, [illegible] somebody, said to be Brady, of the Monitor, informed the French Consul, who protested against the departure of the vessel, and although the military authorities did not interfere, Collector James sent the revenue steamer [illegible] around at half past four in the afternoon to anchor [illegible] giving notice that the [illegible] must not sail until instructions arrived from Washington. The passengers mostly came ashore last night, and three of them being seen by the harbor police with a quantity of old [illegible] German muskets coming up town on a wagon were arrested on suspicion of grand larceny. I am informed on good authority that the new Mexican loan will be placed for management in the hands of responsible business men here, and that steps will be taken to accomplish the shipment of arms and ammunition and the departure of emigrants without infringement of the laws of the United States.

The report of the loss of the ship [illegible] from New York to San Francisco is pronounced entirely untrue by [illegible] The announcement was made by a daily paper through an entire mistake.

NAVIGATION OF SNAKE RIVER.—It is no longer doubtful that Snake river can be navigated from a point about [illegible] miles overland above Umatilla, and plans are now being matured in this city, which [illegible] that the steamboats before the close of the present season, will [illegible] of the forests with [illegible] their fish [illegible] by the paddle wheel of the steamer, and [illegible] as she shall glide along [illegible] toward the Shoshone Falls. From what information we have been able to obtain, we are satisfied that before the [illegible] of [illegible], all improvements of the [illegible] will be made in that direction. A [illegible] of capacity of carrying 150 tons of freight, with [illegible] passengers, etc., is to be constructed [illegible] upon the trade [illegible] the mouth of Burnt river, and old [illegible], who are willing to risk [illegible] enterprise has become more [illegible] enterprise, and we feel [illegible] in our community, [illegible] of the place, and [illegible] some years ago, have at length accomplished [illegible] to [illegible] in completion. [illegible] to all the projectors in their undertaking. It would be gratifying to know that capitalists [illegible] and give persons [illegible] to the subject again, [illegible] complete organization of the company [illegible] acting upon this important work for the future development of the upper country.

FINE PICTURES.—Mr. S. J. M[illegible], of the Franklin Book Store, has [illegible] to the date of April 29th, and has placed [illegible] for a batch of the same. We think [illegible] displayed such [illegible]. Harper's Weekly has a full [illegible] Wilkes Booth, the assassin [illegible] in the Police Gazette [illegible] the funeral [illegible] a cenotaph, etc., with the [illegible] the coffin of the late President. [illegible] displays the feeling of the people [illegible] being draped in mourning, the [illegible] at half mast, and also the weapons of the army and navy. In [illegible] church are represented. [illegible] illustrated by the same artist [illegible] wonderful conception and a brilliant [illegible] exhibition. In the appearance of the [illegible] in flashing lightning, which strikes at the [illegible] on Fort Sumter, the roaring breakers [illegible], etc., on the 14th of April [illegible] the same plate is the [illegible] angel appearing as in the dawn of a bright [illegible] all quiet and [illegible] Charleston in the distance, and the Old Flag [illegible] walls of Sumter, in 1865. The [illegible] the vignette of Anderson [illegible] in the act of taking down the [illegible] to the evacuation, on the night of [illegible] being shown.

[illegible]—We yesterday gave an account of the [illegible] of Captain Ankeny's new steamer at [illegible] to what extent attention [illegible] on in this vicinity we have seven [illegible] construction, all of which [illegible] for the fall trade. [illegible] the People's Transportation Company have [illegible] the building of a new steamer [illegible] and capacity of the Reliance, at Linn City [illegible] and others have a steamer [illegible] after the model of the [illegible] of three fine crafts [illegible] feet above the Falls. At Milwaukie [illegible] are preparing the materials [illegible] different from the pattern of the [illegible] also have in view to build a steamer at [illegible] point, to take the place of the Bonita, running [illegible] the Falls and this city [illegible] below, in keeping with the increase above the Falls, in the trade of the Willamette. [illegible] has his new steamer [illegible] Mr. Bruce the one [illegible] in the trade of Lewis river. Thus we have seven [illegible] building, which will add considerable to the [illegible] of this portion of the State, besides establishing that our people are capable of carrying out their [illegible] in the best manner. The boats [illegible] of the Dredging Machine, now building in [illegible], also form an important item in the length of [illegible] boats, and the new ferry craft of Mr. Knott [illegible] taken into account.

[illegible] TEETH.—The large number of dentists on [illegible] coast, and particularly in San Francisco, says the [illegible], would indicate a prevalent disease of teeth not [illegible] elsewhere. Why this is so we are not able to [illegible] think there is too much "tinkering" with [illegible] in every other American city. [illegible] dental convention at its last session [illegible] Philadelphia, resolved that in their deliberate [illegible] "the flagrant and indiscriminate extraction of [illegible], temporary, and sometimes unnecessary [illegible] has so long and so extensively prevailed, [illegible] only be held perfectly inexcusable, but should [illegible] censured, and that an intelligent and judicious [illegible] treatment for their restoration from disease [illegible] preservation should be the first and [illegible] effort of their profession. And further [illegible] progress of dentistry at the present day has [illegible] varied and ample enough, [illegible] for the preservation of almost every tooth [illegible] and extraction shall only be simultaneous [illegible] the human frame itself."

[illegible] MINES.—Parties from the new diggings on the Grand Ronde, have lately been in the city, [illegible] times in that locality. A new town in [illegible] of the late discoveries is about to be [illegible], which will be quite accessible for light draught [illegible] river, running above Lewiston. The [illegible] river empties into Snake river about thirty [illegible] the new camp. The Eagle Creek mines are [illegible] out handsomely, water is plenty and [illegible], after leaving Grand Ronde valley, in good [illegible] informant seems to be of the opinion that [illegible] has some of the best paying mines on the [illegible], which opinion will be backed up by large [illegible] there the coming season. We trust it may [illegible] and cannot say that we doubt but what it [illegible] for humbug yarns is past in this [illegible] country, and no other motive than that of good [illegible] prompt men to make such statements.

[illegible].—The Victoria papers find a great deal to [illegible] starvation, hard times, laboring men working [illegible] board, and "glad of the chance," and all such [illegible] at this city. The fidelity of these statements [illegible] alluded to, but and nothing of the condition [illegible] at Victoria. The following, clipped from the [illegible] last week—looks bad to say the [illegible] by a little girl died of scarlet fever at [illegible] her parents on Pandora street, and the [illegible] many though grief. The family have been [illegible] for some time past. The [illegible] has [illegible] obtain employment, and the wife took in [illegible] her strength failed. There are three children [illegible] of whom is sick; the others are too young [illegible], and the family are supported by [illegible] subscriptions of neighbors. Cannot some [illegible] to relieve this wretchedness?"

[illegible] PURSER.—Mr. Eph. D[illegible], for several years [illegible] and obliging Purser on the steamer Wil[illegible], has forsaken the river and gone forth to [illegible] hoped—an abundant harvest of the rich placers [illegible] county. Eph. was among the pioneers [illegible] the wealth that exists in what is termed the upper [illegible], and we trust will be abundantly rewarded. He [illegible] before him to warrant the belief [illegible], will pay. He is succeeded by Mr. Hell [illegible] clerk at the O. S. N. Co.'s warehouse.

A FOOT RACE.—A match of 300 yards, for a purse of [illegible] was run a short distance below the city yesterday, with the following result:

[illegible], br. g. Wide Awake,		1
A. J. Knott, b. g. (not known)		2

Won by a neck. Time not taken.

[illegible] along the bank of the river, and as the race was one of impromptu affair, was not [illegible] attended. It afforded infinite sport for a few [illegible] pretty match.

[illegible]'S COURT.—Appeared before [illegible] the Re[illegible] yesterday, one N. Sstent, who [illegible] had invaded the sanctity of a Celestial [illegible] the rightful occupants out of the streets, and with a [illegible] and mug of lager beer [illegible] himself monarch of all he surveyed, for which [illegible] he was brought up in the penal [illegible] Charles Kees, in default of a small amount [illegible] to liquidate his small indebtedness to the city [illegible] of violating Ordinance No. 10, was sent [illegible] two days.

[illegible] COURT.—An adjourned session of the Special [illegible] Circuit Court, Judge Shattuck presiding, met at [illegible] House yesterday. In the case of John P. Ladd [illegible] D. Ladd, both parties were granted [illegible] that the commissioners appointed in the [illegible] of Martin Gilliham, administrator, [illegible] W. [illegible] and about eighty others, concerning real [illegible] in this city, proceed and make partition of the [illegible]. Court adjourned to meet on Thursday next.

[illegible].—Rev. Mr. Myers, the Missionary of the [illegible] to this State from Ohio, who [illegible] was suddenly called home to report [illegible] drafted into the service of the United States [illegible] with his family by the steamer of Saturday. [illegible] filled by a volunteer. Before leaving [illegible] the messenger of death bereft them of one [illegible], and the family proceeded to Salem [illegible] the little one will be interred. It had been [illegible] of the passage from New York.

MAPLE SUGAR.—Our olfactory nerves were delighted [illegible] upon inspecting nine cases of "goods" which [illegible] arrived from New Hampshire, [illegible] A. P. Dennison. It was Maple Sugar [illegible] just such as we have eaten at the camps [illegible] when [illegible] by the branching beech [illegible] maple of an Eastern forest. The [illegible] will [illegible] of the next steamer, and very likely disposed of [illegible].

THE REBEL RAM STONEWALL.—The telegraph reports that [illegible] officer of the rebel ram Stonewall, [illegible] the ordinal—"That she behaves like a duck" [illegible] versed in such matters suggests that [illegible] behaves well, they sometimes [illegible] "point" will be seen when [illegible] Bodies of duns.

THE FLORENCE

Sewing Machines

ARE NOW UNIVERSALLY ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE

BY FAR

THE MOST SIMPLY CONSTRUCTED

Easily Managed,

HANDSOMELY FURNISHED

and Durable

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,

NOW IN USE.

Possessing the Most Desirable Points of all other First-Class Machines, it Surpasses them by the Simplicity of its Construction, and the Ease and Facility with which it Performs a Greater Variety of Work than all other Machines Combined.

IT RUNS, FELLS, GATHERS, BRAIDS, QUILTS [illegible]. We claim for the Florence the following advantages over any and all Sewing Machines:

1st. It makes four different stitches, the lock, knot, double lock and double knot, on one and the same Machine, each stitch being alike on both sides of the fabric.

2d. It has the reversible feed motion, which enables the operator, by simply turning a thumb-screw, to have the work run either to the right or left, to [illegible] any part [illegible], or fasten the ends of seams, without turning the fabric.

3d. Changing the length of stitch, and [illegible] kind of stitch [illegible] can readily be done while the Machine is in motion.

4th. Every stitch is perfect in itself, making the seam [illegible].

5th. It has the [illegible] and can be [illegible].

6th. [illegible] of parts [illegible] and its simplicity enable [illegible] operate it.

7th. [illegible] the operator [illegible].

8th. It has the uniform upper feed, [illegible] to each revolution.

9th. [illegible] of all, because of its [illegible] simplicity, strength and beauty.

10th. It does the heaviest or finest work with equal facility, [illegible] change of tension or [illegible].

11th. Every Machine has one of Jencks' patent hemmers attached [illegible] the right to use which we control, [illegible] operator to turn any width of hem desired.

12th. [illegible] other Machine which will do so large a range of work as the Florence.

13th. It does not require finer thread on the under side, than it does for the upper.

14th. The needle is more easily adjusted than in any other Machine.

15th. It will sew [illegible] the heaviest [illegible] to [illegible] thicknesses of cloth, without change of tension or breaking of thread.

16th. It is fully protected and licensed by Elias Howe, Jr., and [illegible], and our own Letters Patent.

17th. [illegible] the Florence the quiet, bent position, close [illegible] and attention [illegible] heretofore necessary on a large portion of work done on Sewing Machines. We now furnish each Machine with "Barnum's Self Sewer," which guides the work itself, and is of considerable value, especially to inexperienced operators.

18th. While possessing the above and many other advantages, the FLORENCE is sold at corresponding prices with other first class Machines.

19th. We refrain from publishing the highly complimentary notices of the Press with which we have been favored, and place our Machine before the public, believing that an intelligent examination of its merits will fully substantiate all that we have claimed for it, and justify the assertion we now make, that it is the best Sewing Machine in the world.

20th. We Warrant every Machine to be all that we claim for it, and will give a written warranty if required.

21st. Agents wanted in all the principal cities and towns on the Pacific Coast. With a small investment of capital a profitable business can soon be established.

Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.

NEWELL'S

PULMONARY SYRUP

HAS

CURED THOUSANDS!

And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences,

as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—[Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAT COUGHING!

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but

Pulmonary Syrup!

Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM?

Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!

Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S

SYRUP.

KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

A VISIT TO THE PYRAMIDS. — Our own [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] to the border of the Nile covered with crops and palm trees were very lovely, and after about [illegible] they were in fact nearly four miles distant. [illegible] the first sight of our near approach was the [illegible] of sand and [illegible] which surrounded [illegible] more [illegible] sight on which my eye ever lighted. [illegible] Sphinx all I saw [illegible] the margin of the [illegible] Nile [illegible] expectation [illegible] light and deep [illegible] intensity which I cannot [illegible] to me it seemed [illegible] but [illegible] a long time [illegible] remained transfixed and [illegible] I was struck after a while by what [illegible] in the expression [illegible] the mouth. There was a singular gentleness and hope [illegible] in the lines [illegible] contrast with the anxious [illegible] the upper part of the face [illegible] of the intellect [illegible] to solve the mystery [illegible] Shall we say [illegible] universe or [illegible] destiny [illegible] that all must be well and that this truth would in good time be made manifest. We could hardly tear ourselves away from this fascinating spectacle to draw near to the great Pyramid which stood beside us, its outline sharply traced in the clear atmosphere. We walked round and round it, thinking of the strange men whose ambition to secure immortality for themselves had expressed itself in this giant creation. The enormous blocks of granite brought from no one knows where, built up no one knows how — the [illegible] for the purpose of [illegible] the [illegible] contrast between the [illegible] in their construction and the talk of the frivolous race by which we were surrounded — all this seen and felt under the dim moonlight, was very striking and impressive.

We spent some time in moving from place to place along the shadow cast by the pyramid on the sand, and observing the effect produced by bringing the moon sometimes to its apex and sometimes to other points in its outline. I felt no disposition to exchange for sleep the state of dreamy half consciousness in which I was wandering about, but at length I lay down on the singularly sand with a block of granite for a pillow and passed an hour or two, sometimes dozing, sometimes wakeful. * * * When we reached the summit at sunrise, we had a horizon all around tinted very much like Turner's early pictures and becoming brighter and brighter till it melted into day. Behind and on two sides of us was the barren and treeless desert stretching out as far as the eye could reach. Before us the fertile valley of the Nile and the river meandering through it, and in the distance Cairo, with its mosques and minarets the highest, the citadel mosque, standing out boldly on the horizon. It was a fine view and had a character of its own, but still it does not stand out among my recollections as a spectacle unique and never to be forgotten, as that of the night before does. I confess that it was with something of fear and trembling that I returned to the Sphinx that morning. I feared that the impressions received the night before might be effaced by the light of day — but it was not so. The lines were fainter and less deeply marked, but I found, or thought I found, the same meaning in them. — Lord Elgin.

SLAVERY TO BE HUNTED DOWN. — At a meeting held in New York when the news of the President's murder reached there, Daniel S. Dickinson pronounced the following words of execration against the curse of slavery:

"We had expected," he said, "that it would have died quietly, but it has finally culminated in the assassination of the President of the United States. The spirit of rebellion and of slavery ["That is it!"] has finally whet its knife, and finding it could not accomplish the death of the nation, has wreaked its vengeance in the heart's blood of the Chief Magistrate. In all the history of men savage and civilized, in the history of nations, ancient and modern, you can find nothing — not even in the annals of the French revolution — equal to this atrocity and abomination. The only criticisms that were ever passed upon the great and good man were that he had been too lenient, too forgiving in his spirit, too moderate against rebellion. The assassin, not at midnight, but in the midst of a public assembly, has drawn this weapon against the life of the President; and what is more cowardly, more ferocious, more abominable — if there is a grade of crime in assassination — was the attempt on the life of the Secretary of State, who was lying almost upon his dying bed. It required the spirit of the rebellion — it required slavery, in its last, struggling death throes, to do this. This thing — I but repeat what I said long ago — is to be hunted out like a day ago beast. And if there is any one thing in my human experience that I thank God more devoutly for than any other, it is that I have not anywhere winked at anything connected with the [illegible] be lion, but have been in favor of hewing it down from beginning to end. [Cheers.] It is not merely the death of Abraham Lincoln — great, good, patient, faithful, sincere as he was — but it is this great nation that has been wounded in her Chief Magistrate that she had with great and unusual eclat, continued in the position and said, 'Well done, good and faithful servant.' [Cheers.] Let our humanity extend to the humbler misguided men of the rebellion, but let us march on together to dig out the roots and pull up the seed of it. [Cheers.] I tell you I will never slumber or sleep till everything belonging to the rebellion, in number, person and case, is abolished. I spent the best years of my life in endeavoring to reconcile differences between the North and the South. I saw in this rebellion a determination on the part of the rebel murderers, thieves and conspirators not to be conciliated. I say now that they must be hunted from the abodes of men."

THE ROOM IN WHICH THE PRESIDENT DIED. — The room in which Mr Lincoln was laid when taken into the dwelling is in the rear part of the building, and at the end of the main hall from which rises a stairway. The walls were covered with a brownish paper, figured with white. It is quite small — not over 10 feet in width and 15 feet in length. Two or three engravings and a photograph hung upon the walls. The engravings were copies of the Village Blacksmith and Herring's Stable and Barnyard Scenes. The photograph was one taken from an engraved copy of Rosa Bonheur's Horse Fair. The only furniture in the room was a bureau covered with crochet, a table, eight or nine plain chairs, and the bed upon which Mr. Lincoln lay when his spirit took its flight. The bedstead was a low walnut, with headboard from two to three feet high. The floor was carpeted with Brussels, considerably worn. Everything on the bed was stained with the blood of the Chief Magistrate of the nation. It was in this quiet but humble place that the separation of soul and body took place. It was here that the spirit took its departure and left the earthly casket stiff, cold and motionless. It was here that the honored and beloved leader, the Moses who has conducted us through the wilderness of fratricidal war like Moses of old, after being permitted to view from afar the promised heritage of his people — perished ere they had entered upon its enjoyment. — Cor. Bulletin.

THE FALLING COTTON GOODS. — The Newburyport (Mass.) Herald says the decline in cotton goods brings the manufacture to a stand, and but [illegible] of the cotton factories are now running. On a falling market they find it difficult to [illegible] being able. The work on the Newburyport [illegible] still continues and they have a large amount of cloth on hand. All of them have [illegible] half yards which [illegible] single operation has [illegible] once in times [illegible]

Men marry for [illegible] and [illegible] motion [illegible] but much oftener than is supposed [illegible] what the world will say [illegible] friends ever will [illegible] many [illegible] made terrors, that could not have [illegible] any fancy at all. Their [illegible] furniture [illegible] they say [illegible] in their dining parlors.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD, heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if [illegible] taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE!

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb Place, Paddington; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charing Cross, Agar street; [illegible], London; Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton, of London, Parker, of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their down-down countenances [illegible] disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this terrible situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies — see that they are cured before it is too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians in Europe and other places. It therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a sure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to such patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent [illegible] no charge.

[illegible] CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case [illegible] medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and [illegible] to any part of the country, with full and plain directions [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co.
